
Not like-for-like hardware: Laya ran on the laptop GPU, GLiNER on its CPU, Jev over the network. Modes are asked in separate calls; 'all three' sums them. Local timings were taken with other jobs loading the machine.